 This timely book focusses on the central issues and questions which emerge in relation to the teaching and learning of Islam in confessional and constructivist religious education. Considering the consequences of a lack of diversity in the Islamic Religious Education curriculum, the text also explores the challenges faced by Muslim pupils in connection with secularism and radical Islam. Through rich analysis of research carried out across Muslim and public secondary schools in the UK, this book develops a meaningful pedagogy of Islamic Religious Education. In particular, the volume investigates the benefits of Critical Religious Education and Variation Theory frameworks on student learning in Religious Education classrooms and illustrates how these didactic frameworks can help to ameliorate distinct problems seen across Islamic Religious Education. Chapters identify discrete pedagogical issues that arise in the confessional and constructivist approaches to Islamic Education, such as students' difficulties in relating to concept of Islam, and progressive approaches taken in public schools. In addressing these, the text proposes a new theoretical and pedagogical approach to the teaching of Islam, which draws on the philosophy of Critical Realism, the theories of Critical Religious Education, and Variation Theory. This book will be of great interest to postgraduate students, researcher scholars and academics in the fields of religion and education and Islamic studies. In addition, it will be of interest to social equity professionals and public policy decision makers.

"Islamic Studies for Preschoolers" is a vibrant, comprehensive guide designed to introduce preschool through kindergarten-aged children to the beautiful teachings of Islam. Crafted with love and attention to detail, this book serves as an invaluable resource for Sunday schools and parents alike, seeking to embed the essence of Islamic values and knowledge in the hearts of the young learners. Over the course of a year, with weekly engaging lessons, children will embark on a journey through the basics of Islamic Studies. The curriculum is thoughtfully divided into four key areas: 1. Qur'an Studies: Children will learn and memorize short Surahs, with each one chosen for its simplicity and profound message. The lessons are designed to make the words of Allah accessible and memorable for young minds, encouraging a lifelong connection with the Qur'an. 2. Aqeedah (Islamic Creed): The book introduces the concept of Tawheed (the Oneness of Allah) in a manner that is understandable and relatable to children. It lays the foundation for a strong Islamic belief system, using stories and examples that resonate with the preschool age group. 3. Names of Allah: Through captivating stories and illustrations, children will learn about the Beautiful Names of Allah. This section aims to build a deep, personal relationship between the child and their Creator, fostering love and reverence for Allah in their tender hearts. 4. Prophets of Islam: The lives of the prophets are presented as exemplary tales of faith, patience, and perseverance. These stories are not only educational but also serve as moral and ethical guides for children, teaching them valuable life lessons. "Islamic Studies for Preschoolers" is not just a book; it's a comprehensive, easy-to-follow curriculum that makes learning about Islam an enjoyable and meaningful experience. With interactive lessons, colorful illustrations, and simple texts, it ensures that the message of Islam is conveyed in a fun and engaging manner. This book is an essential tool for anyone looking to nurture a young child's spiritual education and instill a profound love for Islam from an early age. Whether you are a teacher in a Sunday school setting or a parent eager to introduce your child to the beauty of Islamic teachings, "Islamic Studies for Preschoolers" offers everything you need to make the learning process both effective and enjoyable. Join us on this blessed journey to light up the hearts of our youngest believers with the knowledge and love of Islam.

This course has been designed to present the young students comprehensive Islamic education, comprising general Islamic knowledge based on the Quran and Hadith. Instead of teaching moral principles directly, they are taught through themes chosen from the Quran and other Islamic sources. A major portion of the course comprises the text of the Quran, which is followed by exercises to test the depth of understanding of the students. Though basically intended for use as a school text book, it is also an ideal tool for home schooling involving both the parents and the children. In this way children will not only learn the ethical values conveyed by the message of Islam but will also be stimulated to want to know more about Islamic teachings when they grow up. #### Seven Sūrahs for the Classroom BRILL

This book demonstrates why and how it is necessary to redesign Islamic Education curriculum in the K-12 sector globally. From Western public schools that integrate Muslim perspectives to be culturally responsive, to public and private schools in Muslim minority and majority contexts that teach Islamic studies as a core subject or teach from an Islamic perspective, the volume highlights the unique global and sociocultural contexts that support the disparate trajectories of Islamic Education curricula. Divided into three distinct parts, the text discusses current Islamic education curricula and considers new areas for inclusion as part of a general renewal effort that includes developing curricula from an Islamic worldview, and the current aspirations of Islamic education globally. By providing insights on key concepts related to teaching Islam, case studies of curriculum achievements and pitfalls, and suggested processes and pillars for curriculum development, contributors present possibilities for researchers and educators to think about teaching Islam differently. This text will benefit researchers, doctoral students, and academics in the fields of secondary education, Islamic education, and curriculum studies. Those interested in religious education as well as the sociology and theory of religion more broadly will also enjoy this volume.

How much can fourteen undergraduate students learn from a six-week summer course about Islam? One of the course assignments in a six-week undergraduate Summer course on Islamic Traditions at the University of California, Santa Barbara was for the students to maintain their notes on all aspects of the course as a collaboratively authored living document that would be continually updated and reorganized to present their total understanding of the course topics in the form of a textbook. Their remarkable final product is presented here, without any significant changes to the content. This volume offers educators the valuable opportunity to directly perceive what students took away from an introductory undergraduate course on Islam. How did the students understand the assigned readings? What topics did students engage with most enthusiastically, and why? What experimental teaching styles were employed in the course, and how effective were they as means to support the learning objectives of the course? Collaboratively authored by Sean Knight, Trent Davidson, Paul Pineda, Thao Nguyen, Anthony Khoa A. Tran, Leslie J. Acero, Sara Moretti, Alexandra Kineret, Blake Keane, Mingfei Xu, Afreen Chaus, Ramzi Bekeri, Kaitlyn Woodward, and Aniela Grych. Edited by Brendan Newlon. Forewords by Ahmad Atif Ahmad, Ovamir Anjum, Jamaal Diwan, and Suheil Laher.
