Yearbook of International Organizations 2014-2015 (Volume 4) United Nations

The Yearbook of International Organizations provides the most extensive coverage of non-profit international organizations currently available. Detailed profiles of international non-governmental and intergovernmental organizations (IGO), collected and documented by the Union of International Associations, can be found here. In addition to the history, aims and activities of international organizations, with their events, publications and contact details, the volumes of the Yearbook include networks between associations, biographies of key people involved and extensive statistical data. Providing both an international organizations and research bibliography, Volume 4 cites over 46,000 publications and information resources supplied by international organizations, and provides nearly 18,000 research citations under 40 subject headings. This volume also includes a research bibliography on international organizations and transnational associations.

Dar es Salaam : " le Port de la Paix " ou " la Porte du Salut ". Dénommée ainsi en 1867 par le Sultan de Zanzibar, la ville a longtemps bénéficié d'une réputation de calme. L'assouplissement tropical confortait la pénurie et le sous-équipement socialistes pour y faire régner un ennui sans heurt. Or, aujourd'hui, pour les Tanzaniens, elle est devenue Bongoland, c'est-à-dire un lieu où la survie est affaire de ruse, d'intelligence (bongo : cerveau en kiswahili). Loin d'être anecdotique, ce glissement toponymique enregistre les mutations qui affectent les liens que les Tanzaniens entretiennent avec la première ville du pays et la façon dont ils se la représentent. Cet ouvrage rend compte de ces mutations en partant de l'hypothèse qu'elles relèvent de processus de territorialisation. Quels sont les processus - envisagés comme pratiques d'investissement spatial - qui, en produisant de l'exclusivité, du bornage et de l'exclusion, fragmentent l'espace urbain et son tissu social ? Les pratiques et les discours des urbains construisent-ils des espaces limités, appropriés, identifiés et gérés par des communautés, c'est-à-dire des territoires ? Dar es Salaam, souvent décrite comme une ville diversifiée, relativement homogène et intégratrice, n'est-elle pas plutôt fragmentée ? Comme la territorialisation ne peut advenir qu'au travers de fréquentation, de gestion et d'investissements localisés, c'est donc à partir de certains lieux - le logement et le quartier d'abord, l'école, la station de dala-dala, la borne fontaine ou les quais du port ensuite - que la ville a été observée. Cela a amené à aborder la question du sens géographique des politiques urbaines menées depuis la colonisation allemande jusqu'à aujourd'hui. Dans le même temps, l'analyse de ces équipements permet d'évaluer le rôle de la crise urbaine et des réponses, qui lui sont apportées. In fine, l'ambition de cette approche est de mesurer l'impact de la singularité du lieu - liée d'une part à son insertion sur la longue durée dans la civilisation swahili, d'autre part à sa colonisation par l'Allemagne et, enfin, à la singularité de la trajectoire post-coloniale, marquée par l'alternance de l'Ujaama et des Plans d'ajustement structurels appliqués depuis 1987 - sur les mutations en cours. Comment cette culture politique singulière, articulant temps long et temps court, participe-t-elle à l'émergence de la ville d'aujourd'hui ?

The international creation of typefaces after 1950 was decisively influenced by the Swiss type designer Adrian Frutiger. His Univers typeface and the machine-readable font OCR-B, which was adopted as an ISO standard, are milestones, as is his type for the Paris airports, which set new standards for signage types and evolved into the Frutiger typeface. With his corporate types, he helped to define the public profiles of companies such as the Japanese Shiseido line of cosmetics. In all he created some fifty types, including Ondine, Méridien, Avenir, and Vectora. Based on conversations with Frutiger himself and on extensive research in France, England, Germany, and Switzerland, this publication provides a highly detailed and accurate account of the type designer's artistic development. For the first time, all of his types - from the design phase to the marketing stage - are illustrated and analyzed with reference to the technology and related types. Hitherto unpublished types that were never realized and more than one hundred logos complete the picture.

The UNCTAD Handbook of Statistics provides a comprehensive, reliable, coherent and comparable collection of statistical data relevant to the analysis of international trade, investment and development for individual countries, geographical regions and for selected economic groupings. The publication presents consolidated reference statistics considered of particular importance for describing how developing countries have evolved in the context of globalization for the following subjects: International merchandise trade, exports and imports structure by products and by regions of origin and destination, and related concentration and diversification indices; volume and unit value indices of exports and imports, terms of trade and purchasing power indices of exports; applied import tariff rates; international trade in services, exports and imports of services by service categories; world merchant fleet; commodity free-market prices and price indices; international financial data: current account net of balance of payments, foreign direct investment, migrants' remittances, and indicators of development: gross domestic product, and population. The printed edition of the Handbook is a tool for research, policy making and education, which can also be used in conjunction with the DVD which contains the full time series of data. The DVD presents figures for more economic groupings than the printed version, as well as figures for trade and interregional groups.
