Historians consider the biblical account of Noah and the Deluge as a myth. However, this famous event occurred at the earliest times of recorded history (Sumerian King List). Today scientists believe in the last ice age called Pleistocene ending in 10,000 BCE, but there is no witness of this planetary cataclysmic event and its existence is based solely on the controversial interpretation of its consequences and their dating. The existence of erratic blocks and the disappearance of mammoths are presented as evidence of the last glaciation. However, despite dating obtained by 14C (calibrated by dendrochronology) is considered absolute by most experts its confrontation with the Egyptian chronology, in which some dates are fixed by astronomy, reverses this widespread belief and shows that dates obtained by 14C increase exponentially before -2200. Thus the rate of 14C tends gradually to 0 around -3500, which implies an important consequence: before -3500, 14C dating is no longer possible.

How can the tracks of dinosaurs best be interpreted and used to reconstruct them? In many Mesozoic sedimentary rock formations, fossilized footprints of bipedal, three-toed (tridactyl) dinosaurs are preserved in huge numbers, often with few or no skeletons. Such tracks sometimes provide the only clues to the former presence of dinosaurs, but their interpretation can be challenging: How different in size and shape can footprints be and yet have been made by the same kind of dinosaur? How similar can they be and yet have been made by different kinds of dinosaurs? To what extent can tridactyl dinosaur footprints serve as proxies for the biodiversity of their makers? Profusely illustrated and meticulously researched, Noah's Ravens quantitatively explores a variety of approaches to interpreting the tracks, carefully examining within-species and across-species variability in foot and footprint shape in nonavian dinosaurs and their close living relatives. The results help decipher one of the world's most important assemblages of fossil dinosaur tracks, found in sedimentary rocks deposited in ancient rift valleys of eastern North America. Those often beautifully preserved tracks were among the first studied by paleontologists, and they were initially interpreted as having been made by big birds—one of which was jokingly identified as Noah's legendary raven.

The Standard Pronouncing Dictionary of the French and English Languages McGraw-Hill Professional Publishing

First published in 1988. Italy, the birthplace of opera in the late sixteenth century, has in recent decades seen remarkable and vital musical growth, with composers as diverse as Luciano Berio and Nino Rota, Luigi Nono and Sylvano Bussotti, Giacomo Manzoni, Bruno Maderna and Salvatore Sciarrino. The musical theatre has figured prominently in the work of Italian composers during this period, ranging from operas conceived in a traditional mode to works of a Music Theatre variety, and in style from popular to avant-garde. In this book Raymond Fearn surveys this Italian musico-theatrical phenomenon in the period since the Second World War, examining a wide range of works such as Nono's Intolleranza and Al Gran Sole Carico d'Amore, Berio's Passaggio and Un re in ascolto,

Manzoni's Atomtod and La Sentenza and Castiglioni's Oberon and The King's Masque, and places these developments within a cultural and theatrical context

This landmark dictionary serves as a basis for historical-comparative research on Tibetan.

Conceptualized empirically and etymologically, it builds on extensive data from the Tibetan dialects and establishes the relationship to Written Tibetan. It reflects historical sound change and semantic change in all of linguistic Tibet. Based on historical sound change and geographical distribution, the dictionary applies a new classification of the Tibetan dialects.

Quand une prophétie dicte le monde... Cédiria est une cité entourée par un désert et un océan qui bascule dans le vide au bout du monde. Sur cette cité isolée règne un empereur despotique du nom de Cléon. Un jour, une météorite traverse le ciel et s'écrase devant la cité, au centre du cratère se trouve un homme, sans nom ni mémoire, portant une marque étrange : YAMUNI Un roman fantastique dans la grande tradition du genre EXTRAIT C'était devenu un rituel chaque soir pour l'empereur Cléon. Après avoir diné dans son immense et somptueux palais de marbre blanc, l'empereur, un homme de taille moyenne à la peau très claire, toujours vêtu de ses habits noirs cousus d'or et de broderies, partait ensuite faire sa promenade dans les luxuriants jardins impériaux du palais. La profusion de verdure et de fraîcheur de ces jardins tranchait avec l'aspect sableux et poussiéreux des habitations en bois du reste de la cité de Cédiria. Le palais était situé sur une petite butte aux abords de la cité, ce qui permettait à l'empereur depuis son palais de dominer toute la cité. Le palais et les jardins étaient entourés de hauts remparts en pierre blanche avec de hauts créneaux pointus. L'empereur aimait avoir ce sentiment de supériorité sur son peuple, le sentiment d'être intouchable. A PROPOS DE L'AUTEUR Je suis né le 17/05/1988 sur la commune d'Argenteuil. J'ai passé la première partie de mon enfance dans le Val d'Oise. Puis à l'âge de 8 ans mes parents sont partis vivre à Landerneau près de Brest. J'ai fait mes études en Bretagne, après un bac scientifique je me suis finalement tourné vers les métiers du commerce. A 27 ans j'aimerais réussir à vivre de ma passion d'écriture en partageant mes histoires.

 Donald Jay Grout's widely praised edition of the work of a key figure in the history of opera provides the most reliable version of the score for each opera, appending a translation of the libretto. These volumes are "at once practical and unquestionably scholarly" in the words of Opera Journal. A tale of love and honor in the opera seria tradition, Tigrane was first performed at Naples in 1715. This edition of it will please performance groups and music historians alike.
