STRICKLAND NOVAK

Counseling the Aged Simon and Schuster

ONE MUST KNOW GOD BEFORE ONE KNOWS THEMSELVES May the poems in this book, Conversations, give the reader, encouragement and hope. You, the reader, will be privy to private conversations that will enable you to discover answers to questions that the Bible deems important for your growth toward salvation: What does sovereignty of God mean? What do we know about man's free will? What is truth? How is my salvation accomplished? How to discern good and evil? and more...Hopefully, the questions and answers you discover will encourage you to ask your own questions, so that you will understand God better. Prayerfully, you'll then understand yourself more fully and be given a desire to have a loving relationship with Jesus. -John 15:15 Conversations $00.00

Imperial Illusions University of Iowa Press

Joshua Kampa, the illegitimate son of a mute Spanish whore and a black serviceman, has always dreamed of Africa. But his dreams are of an Africa far in the past and are so vivid and in such hallucinatory detail that he is able to question the understanding of eminent paleontologists. As a result, Joshua is invited to join a most unusual time travel project and is transported millions of years into the past of his dreams. In early Pleistocene Africa, living among the pre-human species Homo habilis, experiencing the same hardships and the same intense pleasures, Joshua finds, for the first time in his troubled life, not only contentment but real love - a love that transcends almost everything. Intelligent, thoughtful and deeply moving, No Enemy but Time brilliantly evokes the remote past and, at the same time, presents a powerful and convincing portrayal of a relationship surmounting even the most daunting barriers. It is a challenging and highly original novel exploring the nature and origins of humankind.

Clergy Retirement: Every Ending a New Beginning for Clergy, Their Families, and Congregants, emphasizes that retirement is much more than a significant personal loss and has an impact on more than just the retiring clergy. Besides saying goodbye to congregants, colleagues, and a career, clergy are encouraged to devote time discovering new meaning in life and seeking potential opportunities, both personal and professional. At the same time, the impact of this retirement on others who significantly shared the clergy's life is sensitively highlighted. The ripple effects of this transition are broad, but can be most meaningfully addressed with sensitive consideration and thoughtful planning. This book, therefore, offers practical advice, serving as a manual for transition for the entire congregation. Everyone touched by this retirement is guided to find new meaning for their future after honestly and sensitively facing the end of a career.

In Due Time Author House

Written by a Maine man living in Mexico, this collection of short stories, essays, plays, and poems elicits a kaleidoscope of emotions. These tales are funny, horrible, and uplifting by turns. Author Robert James Shand provides a full disclosure of his personal life, from his experiences as a child growing up in Brewer, Maine, to his thoughts and feelings while living in Mexico. Through his stories, he describes gaining a deeper appreciation for the changing of the seasons in Maine, reflects on celebrating Veterans Day in Mexico, and laughs about the time no one believed that he saw a naked woman running down the street. On a more serious note, Shand recalls his experiences serving in Vietnam as well as the traumatic stress he coped with upon returning home. Throughout Musings of a Maine Man Abroad, he maintains and supports his core beliefs about the world, God, and his personal relationship with Jesus.

They met when both were young and she already married, with waist-long, gold-red hair that called instantly to mind Sapphos girl with hair like a falling flame. Now, nearly half a century later, award-winning poet Frank Salvidio has gathered together the sonnets addressed to her, some previously published in journals and anthologies, and fashioned them into a sonnet sequence which chronicles their enigmatic, mutual attraction, which dates from that first meeting. Whether it is, as she suggests, a love invented to provide a poet with a theme, or the fatal attraction which his poetry expresses, these sonnets trace its history from the point of view of someone who still does not know if it is real or illusory; and their arrangement recreates this quixotic relationship in all its ambiguity, from the closing couplet of the title sonnet, Yet if your hard analysis is true That fabled love sustains me, still its you, to the conclusion of the last, which defines it as ..a play within A play of ifs and buts, of would and should, A world not realized, not understood.

The Seeking is the moving and uplifting story of the Thomas family's time among the people of Westford, Vermont. A life, writes Thomas, is not based on race, but on what we and they [were] like as human beings. Back in print for the first time in fifty years, this edition includes a new introduction that situates The Seeking in the canon of twentieth-century black literature, and a new afterword that follows the fortunes of Thomas and his family in the years after its initial publication. The Seeking is both a story of one remarkable African-American family and a story of race relations in mid-century New England.

Beyond the Zone Guardian Books

Personal Poetic Perspectives presents a compilation of poems analyzing a variety of topics, including family, addiction, sexual abuse, and Black history. Each poem is presented in a rhythmic format that inspires you to examine your personal opinions. Taking both humorous and serious approaches, these verses seek to spur you to reflect on your past, present, and future and prompt you to question your feelings regarding personal, social, and current events. Some of the poems depict author Montrelle Jackson-Sinegar's personal experiences, while others explore the lives and stories of other individuals—and all of them invite you to think carefully about life and your place in it. Appealing to a broad audience, this collection of poetry considers a wide range of subjects and perspectives, opening the door for reflection and self-examination. "Personal Poetic Perspectives is an informative read that puts a spin on poetry by adding taboo counseling components, which draws in the novice and experienced alike." —Natasha L. Ballard, LPC "I really enjoyed Montrelle Sinegar's book. Her poetry is both humorous and serious. Thus, it motivates individuals to think and laugh at the same time." —Timothy Smith, Dean of Workforce Development and CTE, Arizona Western College

Solstice, Helene McGlauffin's third collection of poetry is a sweet selection of poems written for and during the dark days before the winter solstice. Helene's poems utilize imagery from the night sky, root cellars, fireflies, gestation in darkness, birth to remind readers to search for light, wait for light, hope for light, see light. Her poems are an accessible, welcome comfort in these times of uncertainty when every soul needs the reassurance of the beauty and faith found in poetry.

The Mended Heart University of Washington Press

In The Mended Heart, author and poet Rhonda Milner brings readers an inspirational book of her poetry, prose, and photography, offering them comfort and hope when they are going through difficult times. Drawing from her own experiences of joy and happiness, pain and sorrow, she shares words that encourage and lift the spirits of those who need to be reminded they are not alone. The poetry and writings have been compiled over the past 3 years from her Healing Presence Ministry blog where she has gained a worldwide following of over 2.6 million fans on Facebook, along with Instagram. This book is a journey to hope, allowing readers from all walks of life, cultures, and faiths to connect with the thoughts and wisdom of the author as she leads them through the human and universal experiences of love (both love experienced as people and love as shown by God), the pain and yet gentle and inherent beauty of suffering, and the promise of hope. The heart is never the same after it's been broken. But it can be healed. Ultimately, The Mended Heart brings readers to a place where they can recognize and experience God's love, receiving help and blessing through the writings and honest reflections of someone who's been down the road of both heartache and healing. This beautiful coffee-table gift book pairs the author's writings with her original photography, speaking powerfully, gently, and honestly to the soul.

On Retirement Routledge

The author's experience of the beginning of retirement is reflected in 90 days of poems. Each day's poem is sixteen lines. Poems range from the deeply spiritual to casual observations about life and traveling.

Personal Poetic Perspectives Christian Faith Publishing, Inc.

Fascinating personal histories are revealed through the stories of cherished objects, in this anthology celebrating the meaningful mementos of our lives. Amber Lanier Nagle has always been interested in keepsakes, whether her own or those she encounters in her friends' homes. Seemingly ordinary items—a glass bluebird, a pocketknife, a dime-store locket, a faded fishing lure, a dented cake pan, a model train car—become priceless treasures when their stories are uncovered. In Project Keepsake, Nagle collects the tales of these objects and their beloved memories from contributors near and far. "Why do you keep this?" Nagle asks. "Where did it come from?" And then she listens as the stories pour out. Told in first-person by both seasoned and aspiring writers, every essay in the anthology is unique—yet each reveals common threads that connect us all and celebrate the glorious human experience.

Retired School Counselor I've Worked My Whole Life for This Notebook Archway Publishing

Simply Me is collection of poems that I wrote with GOD as my inspiration. The source of writing this book came from my two daughters in-law and five beautiful grand children who are the main source of my happiness and the love of my life. GOD truly blessed me and guided my thoughts in writing this. My one desire is to live a purpose driven life in Christ.

Chicken Soup for the Soul: Just Say Yes Open Road Media

This book offers a totally new, holistic approach to career development, involving the wisdom of the unconscious—expressed in dreams, symbols, personal myths, intuitions, and memories—as well as the analytical skills needed to set goals and plan strategies. It is designed for anyone who has to make important life decisions—whether in choosing a field, changing careers, trying to get more satisfaction out of work, planning for retirement, or reentering the job market. Based on the principles of creativity as revealed in the world's creation myths and in the techniques of artists, poets, and inventors, the book presents a ten-step process of creative career development. Case histories from the author's counseling practice demonstrate the process at work, and a workbook section gives exercises to help readers: • Examine past successes for clues to aptitude and values • Analyze the success factors that characterize their achievements • Use imaging and other creativity techniques to discover their own inner symbols and personal myths • Develop an action plan for finding or creating their ideal career
