The British Catalogue of Music BoD – Books on Demand (MGB). Seven works by Rossellini, Cilea, Principe, Petrassi, Alfano, and Ferrari-Trecate. Includes pull-out violin part. "The first work in Volume II, by Renzo Rossellini, is a straightforward slow movement in 6/8, reminiscent of a lullaby...Two works by Remy Principe include In The Woods of Ritten, a combination molto perpetuo and advanced-level etude, and The Small Square (as in village square), subtitled Homage to Manuel de Falla. This lovely vivace showpiece begins with a glissando on the A string followed by a descending pattern with turns on the E string, rapid-fire double stops, and left and right hand pizzicato passages, with a piano part patterned after de Falla's Spanish songs...This collection is a valuable repertoire and provides intermediate to advanced players with a set of exciting new alternatives to the standard works."-- American String Teacher

Catalog of Copyright Entries Glissato Edizioni Musicali Italian-American theatre sprang to life in New York City shortly after waves of Italian immigrants poured into this country in the 1870's. The mass migration brought both the performers and the audiences necessary for theatrical entertainment. Hungry for recognition, support, and social exchange, the men and women from Italy formed amateur theatrical clubs as one way of satisfying emotional needs. By 1900, the community had produced the major forces that created the Italian-American theatre of the ensuing decades. In The Italian-American Immigrant Theatre of New York City, author Emelise Aleandri regenerates the excitement of the stage through striking photographs, programs, and other memorabilia generously loaned by families of the theatre community. She follows the fortunes of the earliest nineteenth-century companies and introduces those that arose in the twentieth-century. Within these pages are scenes of comedy, tragedy, vaudeville, and radio, featuring stars such as Mimi Cecchini, Guglielmo Ricciardi, Concetta Arcamone, Antonio Maiori, Rita Berti, Farfariello, and Olga Barbato.
