Countless studies have demonstrated the power of early intervention to permanently alter the course of a child's life. Yet -- heightened by the past decade's research breakthroughs in genetics - - the nature vs. nurture controversy rages on. This volume dispels some of the persistent myths surrounding this controversy. Unlike largely theoretical texts that describe infant behavioral and emotional difficulties and other psychosocial challenges affecting young children, this eminently practical guide illustrates what to do in numerous clinical situations with actual patients. Written by clinicians who work with infants and children and their families every day, this reality-based approach addresses the most common and important problems in infant psychopathology (e.g., trauma, sleep, feeding, excessive crying, attachment disruptions), covering models of intervention from pregnancy through infancy, attachment issues, and transgenerational themes. Here, you'll find topics rarely addressed elsewhere: The theoretical and clinical implications of trauma during early childhood and its effects on emotional regulation, cognition, and attachment, including potential disruptions of attachment -- a topic widely overlooked in the life of young children, perhaps because of the distress it produces in adults to think that infants can be subject to violence, witness major traumatic events, and experience consequences from such events

 Techniques, such as multimodal parent-infant psychotherapy, for working effectively with families - - once considered "unreachable" -- who are under severe stress and have endured multiple disruptions, disappointments, and marginalization
 A timely discussion of a rarely addressed problem on the importance of early intervention and the effects of day care for infants, from the point of view of the infant exposed to multiple caretakers, addressing the very difficult questions of the effects on infants of changes in caretakers
 How young children use their bodies and its functions to manifest their difficulties, focusing on sleeping, crying, and eating with practical suggestions that can be widely applied by health care professionals Unique commentaries on two case examples by a diverse international panel of clinicians and researchers -- from countries such as Argentina, Canada, France, Japan, Mexico, Switzerland, the UK, and the U.S. -- illustrating the differences of opinion, approaches, and perspectives that together generate more effective assessment and treatment This thought-provoking clinical reference is a "must read" for developmental, child, and adolescent psychiatry educators and practitioners -- and nurses, pediatricians, occupational therapists, and clinical social workers -- as they help the youngest members of our community through theoretical understanding and practical intervention. Lebensalter Im Schöpferischen Prozess American Psychiatric Pub

L'auteur ne s'adresse pas ici qu'aux férus de science, de technologie et de commerce. Ce livre est bien davantage qu'un instrument fondamental servant à vérifier de façon scientifique la vérité de l'unité du Tout et de la grande unification de la Physique et de l'édification de l'Univers. Il nous propose une démarche en vue de retrouver les traditions souvent oubliées des mères et pères spirituels de l'Humanité qui furent d'avis qu'un être humain est un élément de l'ensemble que nous appelons l'Univers.

The studies in this book set out to examine the labile resonances of phenomenology and art in Michel Henry, by examining the different figures of movement given to the concept of the aesthetic by the philosopher. They are preceded by one of Michel Henry's own texts. Les études qui composent ce livre proposent d'interroger les résonances labiles de la phénoménologie et de l'art chez Michel Henry, en examinant les différentes figures du déplacement imprimé par le philosophe au concept d'esthétique. Le tout est précédé d'un texte de Michel Henry.

Attraverso il racconto di specifiche esperienze, i saggi di questo volume contribuiscono a tracciare il quadro dell'attuale stato della ricerca e delle tendenze in atto nel mondo delle tecnologie informatiche applicate alla Storia dell'arte medievale, offrendo uno spaccato di una realtà in rapida crescita e in continua trasformazione. Sia i progetti pionieristici, sia quelli più recenti, conclusi o ancora in corso, dimostrano come il settore degli studi sul Medioevo stia vivendo una stagione di grande vitalità nel contesto delle Digital Humanities. Le iniziative qui raccolte, promosse da studiosi afferenti ad università e istituti di ricerca, sono rappresentative di vari campi e settori di interesse, di diversi approcci sul piano metodologico, delle strategie di comunicazione e della strumentazione applicata, e consentono di riflettere sulle reali possibilità dei mezzi al servizio della storia dell'arte. Permettendo al lettore di entrare nell'officina della collaborazione tra informatica e scienze storico-artistiche, questi contributi rappresentano al tempo stesso un bagaglio di "buone pratiche" a vantaggio non solo di chi è impegnato in imprese analoghe, ma anche di chi voglia intraprenderne di nuove.

Modern science informs us about the end of the universe: "game over" is the message which lies ahead of our world. Christian theology, on the other hand, sees in the end not the cessation of all life, but rather an invitation to play again, in God's presence. Is there a way to articulate together such vastly different claims? Eschatology is a theological topic which merits being considered from several different angles. This book seeks to do this by gathering contributions from esteemed and fresh voices from the fields of biblical exegesis, history, systematic theology, philosophy, and ethics. How can we make sense, today, of Jesus' (and the New Testament's) eschatological message? How did he, his early disciples, and the Christian tradition, envision the "end" of the world? Is there a way for us to articulate together what modern science tells us about the end of the universe with the biblical and Christian claims about God who judges and who will wipe every tear? Eschatology has been at the heart of Christian theology for 100 years in the West. What should we do with this legacy? Are there ways to move our reflection forward, in our century? Scholars and other interested readers will find here a wealth of insights.

The volume contains forty-seven contributions dealing with Islamic thought and history, Arabic literature and linguistics. The variety of perspectives and approaches, and the wide range of subject matters constitute a true mirror of European scholarship in Arabic and Islamic studies. The authors who congregated for the 19th congress of the Union Européenne des Arabisants et Islamisants at Halle come from many European countries including Middle and Eastern Europe. Philosophy and historiography, Arabic inscriptions and belles-lettres, pre-modern and modern history, Islamic law and theology figure among the topics treated in amply documented studies.

The nature of life consists in a constructive becoming (see Analecta Husserliana vol. 70). Though caught up in its relatively stable, stationary intervals manifesting the steps of its accomplishments that our attention is fixed. In this selection of studies we proceed, in contrast, to envisage life in the Aristotelian perspective in which energia, forces, and dynamisms of life at work are at the fore. Startling questions emerge: `what distinction could be drawn between the prompting forces of life and its formation? Or, is this distinction a result of our transcendental faculties?' The answers to these questions reveal themselves, as Tymieniecka proposes, at the phenomenologically onto-poietic level of life's origination where transcendentality surges.

Did the 16th-century Reformation influence French language and culture? This book, the fullest available bibliography of religious printing in French during the early Reformation, provides the materials to answer this question. It assembles information on all known printed editions in French on religious subjects during the crucial period 1511-51 (up to the Edict of Chateaubriant), giving full bibliographical details, library locations and references in secondary literature. An alphabetical list is complemented by a chronological list, and by an analysis of editions by printers and publishers. The work provides the fullest checklist available of works and editions produced from all parts of the religious spectrum, both Roman Catholic and Protestant. It reveals who were the most active and influential writers, which were the most popular texts, and which were the most active printing centres in the field of religious printing in French. The chronological survey shows the immense growth in publications triggered by the Reformation movement, and reveals the radical change in religious sensibility during the period, from contemplative meditation to polemical debate.

La vie est remplie de mystères. Est-ce possible de trouver de l'ordre dans le chaos? Y a-t-il des solutions aux problèmes de tous les jours? Existe-t-il un sens et un but à la vie? Peut-on savoir pourquoi on est ici et où on va? Pourquoi y a-t-il tant de souffrance et de mort? Y a-t-il une vie après la mort? Peut-on le savoir ici-même sur terre? Suis-je destiné à perdre mon identité et me transformer en vide? Est-ce vrai qu'il n'existe aucune réponse à ces questions? Il y a un livre ancien, « La Sainte Bible », qui se penche sur toutes ces questions primordiales. Mais peut-on s'y fier? Pour tirer vos propres conclusions, il faut savoir ce qu'il dit au juste. Par ce nom écarte la religion de ce livre sacré, la Bible, et permet au récit de parler de lui-même. Dans le processus, un message d'espoir surgit. C'est un livre à ne pas rater. « J'ai compris des choses que je n'avais jamais comprises auparavant. Cela ressemblait à des pièces d'un casse-tête qui s'assemblaient. Le message avait du sens. »

On the 23rd of August 2008, Professor Andrei Pleșu has marked his sixtieth birthday. In view of his distinguished service to the public welfare and his manifold contributions to academic life, the editors of this volume have invited a number of Romanian and international scholars to celebrate this event with a Festschrift. Colleagues, friends, and former students of Andrei Pleșu joined together to offer a critical appreciation of his understanding of culture in today's world. The participants in this volume explore the continuing debates around the place of philosophy, politics, aesthetics, ethics, and religion in shaping the identity of Western civilization. The sacred occupies a central place in the poetry of Guillevic, who described himself as a 'matérialiste religieux'. This study, informed by anthropological and psychoanalytical thought, examines the evolution of this aspect of his oeuvre from Terraqué (1942) through to the poet's last works and focuses in particular on the relation between the sacred and the mother figure. A semiotic approach is used for close textual analysis of key poems. Guillevic's poetic endeavour is conceived as an archaeological quest whereby the presence of the archaic within the domain of the real is disclosed and mythical patterns emerge. The re-enactment of the cosmogony, the performance of ritual and the process of mourning - all crucial to poetic creativity itself - are identified as motivating forces through which the poet seeks reparation of the mother. This study will be of interest to undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as to teachers of French literature, and will provide a useful introduction to those who may be unfamiliar with the unique voice of this major 20th century poet.
