Cabotage in Air Transport Regulation UBC Press

Straits are peripheral formations in the study of geography, but have long been a source of controversy in international relations. They connect separate seas and divide the territory of states. This geographical fact invites legal disputes over international boundary drawing, request for passage by foreign ships, assertion of territorial control over the waters forming straits, and the basis for a regime generally accepted as law in our times. This is a thorough and well-documented book which combines elements of history, geography, international shipping, and the law of the sea. It asks the central question: what exactly is the current law governing this area, and also goes on to consider the concept of international straits, the distinction between existing treaty-based regimes and the general regime, and the special characteristics of straits that separate them from similar arms of the sea in terms of law. In answering these questions, the author takes us back to the first regime for international straits in 1949, through to the practices of the present day. This will be an invaluable text for all international lawyers, particularly those specializing in the law of sea.

This book assesses the present status of space activity regulation against the background of the progressive commercialization of outer space. The basic legal framework for outer space activity was established during a time when space endeavour was still in its infancy & a critical reassessment of its principles therefore forms the basis of this publication. The outcome of this analysis & the legal implications which result from applying it to practical space utilization yield an insight into the legal questions pertaining to space commercialization & its practical implementation. Commercial Utilization of Outer Space will be of great interest to academics & practitioners in the field of space activities, as well as to government policy makers in different sectors of space commercialization ranging from space transportation, satellite communication & remote sensing to space insurance & manufacturing in outer space. Wherever appropriate & feasible practical aspects have been dealt with against the background of present-day realities & developments foreseen for the future.

L'un des plus grands journalistes de la radio-télévision nous offre ses confidences. Depuis l'âge de quatorze ans, Jacques Chancel a tenu son journal. C'est donc avec une naturelle aisance dans cet exercice qu'il a remis en scène sept années de sa vie - de notre vie (1993-1999). Long cycle de curiosités, promenades amoureuses, parfois coléreuses, sur les chemins de la littérature, de la musique, de l'art, du sport, de la politique aussi. Et bien sûr, de la télévision, si intégrée à notre vie quotidienne. Les faits que l'on croit sans importance, des moments que l'on juge insignifiants, les mille choses de la vie sont des instantanés qui ont pour lui une valeur insoupçonnée. A celui qui sait regarder, écouter, s'indigner ou s'éblouir, la banalité de l'existence ne sera jamais une paisible plaine. D'où le titre : l'or pour s'émerveiller et le rien pour vivre. Jacques Chancel présente à la télévision sur France 3 "Les quatre saisons", une émission dans le style de son célèbre "Grand Echiquier". Il anime aussi tous les dimanches une série d'entretiens sur France Inter, "Figures de proue". Il dirige depuis six ans la revue trimestrielle des Écrits de l'image. Il est président d'honneur de la chaîne musicale Mezzo.
