The murder was ugly. The killer was sure no one saw him. Someone did. In a horrifying vision, Chelsea Adams has relived the victim's last moments. But who will believe her? Certainly not the police, who must rely on hard evidence. Nor her husband, who barely tolerates Chelsea's newfound Christian faith. Besides, he's about to hire the man who Chelsea is certain is the killer to be a vice president in his company. Torn between what she knows and the burden of proof, Chelsea must follow God's leading and trust him for protection. Meanwhile, the murderer is at liberty. And he's not about to take Chelsea's involvement lying down.

World War II is over. But for Hungarian people like young, attractive Anna Gonda, another terror has just begun. Communism is strangling her country, forcing the bold writer to make a difficult decision. It was time to abandon her home, her beloved family, and her boyfriend, Attila Paprika, an insecure pessimist who measures his manhood with drinking contests and grueling mountain bike rides. For reasons of his own, Attila surprises Anna by joining her in a daring escape to England. After the couple is blessed with a daughter, Anna is mysteriously drawn to Australia, land of prosperity and opportunity. Enjoying the good life as new immigrants, they have no idea that a monster is lurking in their neighbourhood. Life will never be the same as it twists into a disturbing tale of fear and survival. Author Bio: This is Monica's first foray into the world of publishing. She enjoyed the experience so much, she's planning a sequel to The Paprika Diary. Monica successfully raised an autistic child well before much was known about the disease. She has conquered breast cancer once, and is currently battling it a second time. She does not know when her journey on earth ends, but is comforted by her faith in All That Is, for there is no death of our eternal flame. Monica lives in Ontario, Canada with her long-time companion, Buggy the tabby. Keywords: Diary, Fiction, Secret, Evil, Lonely Woman, Hungary, Australia, Canada

Zondervan

Il a 24 heures, pas une de plus ! 24 heures pour profiter de la Terre avant d'être rapatrié sur sa planète, Bleu. Planète où il y a la paix, mais où il n'y a qu'une seule couleur... A son arrivée, il se choisit un prénom, Ashok, et une apparence, celle d'un skater aux cheveux mi-longs. Alors il glisse dans les rues, maladroitement, il entre ici, ressort là, ne fait que passer... et il découvre l'odeur du café chaud, l'amitié, la peur, le désir - la liberté. Il rencontre une Terrienne affranchie, et ses deux acolytes, Vic et Vadim. Et puis, dans un coin de sa tête, il pense à son ami, Mr Paprika. Le seul à n'être jamais revenu de son voyage sur Terre. Bon sang ! Faut qu'il le retrouve !

Grab this inspirational and satisfying western romance collection and get transported to a small town life filled with heartwarming scenes, sexy cowboys, and all the feels in the Three Rivers Ranch Romance series by USA Today bestselling author Liz Isaacson! This Christian western romance boxed set contains four novels in the Three Rivers Ranch Romance series - Fifth Generation Cowboy, Sixth Street Love Affair, The Seventh Sergeant, and Eight Second Ride. Fifth Generation Cowboy: Tom Lovell has watched his friends find their true happiness on Three Rivers Ranch, but everywhere he looks, he only sees friends. Rose Reyes has been bringing her daughter out to the ranch for equine therapy for months, but it doesn't seem to be working. Her challenges with Mari are just as frustrating as ever. Could

Tom be exactly what Rose needs? Can he remove his friendship blinders and find love with someone who's been right in front of him all this time? Sixth Street Love Affair: After losing his wife a few years back, Garth Ahlstrom thinks he's ready for a second chance at love. But Juliette Thompson has a secret that could destroy their budding relationship. Can they find the strength, patience, and faith to make things work? The Seventh Sergeant: Life has finally started to settle down for Sergeant Reese Sanders after his devastating injury overseas. Discharged from the Army and now with a good job at Courage Reins, he's finally found happiness—until a horrific fall puts him right back where he was years ago: Injured and depressed. Carly Watters, Reese's new veteran care coordinator, dislikes small towns almost as much as she loathes cowboys. But she finds herself faced with both when she gets assigned to Reese's case. Do they have the humility and faith to make their relationship more than professional? Eight Second Ride: Ethan Greene loves his work at Three Rivers Ranch, but he can't seem to find the right woman to settle down with.

When sassy yet vulnerable Brynn Bowman shows up at the ranch to recruit him back to the rodeo circuit, he takes a different approach with the barrel racing champion. His patience and newfound faith pay off when a friendship--and more--starts with Brynn. But she wants out of the rodeo circuit right when Ethan wants to rejoin. Can they find the path God wants them to take and still stay together? "Isaacson artfully combines disparate threads in her contemporary Western Christian romance, the first in her Three Rivers Ranch series." ~BookLife, Publisher's Weekly Saddle up for tales of love, faith, and family life on the ranch! In Liquid Cool Book 5 its Alien Meets Blade Runner...It's I, Alien Hunter! Liquid Cool, the action-packed (and funny), cyberpunk detective series continues. Our private detective, Cruz, has dealt with all kinds of criminal crazies—full human, cyborgs and robots—and even crazier clients. But he has never had to deal with...extraterrestrials. Is this case more than a missing persons? Have humans on the Main Asteroid Belt between Mars and Jupiter actually found proof of alien life from another world? What does it all have to do with a missing scientist? "I'm a detective, not a secret agent," Cruz says. But never has he faced so much danger from forces on Earth and beyond in the 50-million, supercity of Metropolis—a gritty, ever-rainy, futuristic world of colossal skyscrapers, hovercars, and flashy neon streets. This time besides the action, thrills, and laughs Author Austin Dragon brings us Spacemen, Martians, meteors, androids, and possibly... a killer alien. Welcome to the high-tech, low-life world of Liquid Cool.

Called "A Romance Novel With Machine

Guns." Newly appointed Director of Domestic Terrorism for the Secret Service, Retired Navy SEAL Maxwell "Max" Mason must now tread the hostile waters of the political world while keeping the United States safe from terrorists wanting to do harm on our very shores. After a somewhat successful mission in Boston caused serious injuries to both of his teammates as well as the notoriety they all received from Max's unorthodox methods, Max must act quickly and on his own when a hospital takeover by armed men puts surgical patient and newfound love Karen Tyler in harm's way... AGAIN. Max must step up AGAIN to take on a pair of homicidal brothers, a highly trained Czech special forces team, the Russian mob, and a sadistic old enemy he has been searching for for over twenty years...all while his new girlfriend is in surgery and has no idea what is going on around her. With the help from his SEAL teammate and tech guru Jordan "Jordy" Alexander, as well as several new friends and allies, Max has to take on a highly feared rich Russian mobster that runs his Little Russia community with an iron fist, whose obsession for money, power, control, family revenge, and keeping a dark secret quiet has Max doing everything he can to stop the Russian's vendetta in order to get Tyler out of danger. Having to choose between his new love or his badge and gun, Max Mason understands that he has several highly trained targets standing between him and everyone's safety and must get a "PERFECT SCORE" to keep everyone and Tyler alive.

Which is probably what our protagonist is thinking when she learns with the rest of the world that planes have hit the Pentagon and Twin Towers. It puts things in perspective for sure. And she truly thinks if she survives the day she will swear off all her bad habits for good. But some things are easier said than done. How does a girl keep it from all falling apart? How does she find her way out of the darkness? For starters, have a truly good friend who doesn't judge. And if he

Good Morning, Mr. Shappi. Good Morning, Mr. Dalton Print Corner Room Books Grab this inspirational and satisfying western romance and get transported to a small town life filled with heartwarming scenes, sexy cowboys, and all the feels in the Three Rivers Ranch Romance series by USA Today bestselling author Liz Isaacson! A shy cowboy, a single mother, and their journey out of the friend zone. Tom Lovell, a fifth-generation cowboy raised by a single dad, knows ranching like the back of his hand. At Three Rivers Ranch, he watches his fellow cowboys get married one by one, but he's not sure he's the marrying type. His mother's abandonment when he was a child has left him wary of women and content with his life as a cowboy. Rose Reyes, a single mother to her daughter Mari, who has Autism, has been raising her daughter alone for seven years. Despite Mari's improvements through equine therapy, Rose struggles with loneliness, exhaustion, and the desire for adult companionship—and she's always found a friend in Tom. One day, Tom and Rose find themselves alone in the kitchen, where Rose confesses her feelings of being out of control and her need for a break. Tom, without judgment, offers to help her with her leaking kitchen sink and overgrown lawn. As they spend more time together, Tom realizes that his friendship with Rose could grow into something more—if he can get out of his own way. Tom also must navigate his confusing feelings about where he should be—Three Rivers or back home in Montana?—as his relationship with Rose heats up. And she always has to consider her daughter in every decision she makes. Tom and Rose will need faith, patience, and love to navigate the road out of the friend zone and toward where they're supposed to be without risking Mari's well-being in the process. Can they face the challenges of single parenthood, past traumas, and societal expectations to build a life together? Or will their leap of faith leave them all broken-hearted? Good Morning Mr Kolanut! Pioneer Drama Service, Inc.

This is a novel about something we all know, something we carry within us: our inward rage, our lives of fantasy. Not all of us accommodate rage or fantasy in the same way. Most of us--bless us--go about our peaceful business, though our confidential fury may produce fantasies we'd rather not confess. Sometimes some of us translate fantasies to outer life. Most of us do not. Brown, in KILLING EVERYBODY (he has no other name we know), carries in his heart a burden of anger so terrible we think that he will burst. In a sense, he does. His rage communicates. His wife, a masseuse (her trade unknown to Brown: he thinks she's in real estate), soothes his rage when she strokes his body, but she knows that her husband will never rest until he has been liberated from his unendurable obsession. It is she who gives his fantasy reality, she who delivers death to his enemy. In this book a diverse company walks the streets of San Francisco: a romantic policeman, a sexually compulsive newspaperman, a businessman who cannot read, a neighborhood temptress, her mother, her children, her dog, a corrupt war-making congressman--and the ghost of the boy the congressman sent to die in war. It is a compelling story significantly familiar to all of us whose fantasies and outrage are accessible to our consciousness.

Abandonment. Betrayal. Injustice. Two broken hearts given a second chance to mend. Widow Edythe Westin yearns for a peaceful home and independence from her controlling father. The goal seems within reach until her rebellious young son is suspected of arson and assault. With nowhere else to turn, she defies her father and appeals for help from the only man she ever loved—the man who once deserted her when she needed him most. Attorney Barrett Seaton returned to his hometown to make his brother's final days comfortable. Seeing Edy again raises Barrett's guard, especially when she remains under her father's thumb...just like the day she rejected Barrett to marry another man. A second betrayal by her would destroy him as surely as her devious father destroyed his brother by railroading him into prison. To save her son, Edy and Barrett must rekindle the trust lost years earlier. But how? Continue getting to know the young women of the Widow's Might group as they prepare to fall in love again. Last spring, three girls went missing.
Nothing linked the cases except a frustrating lack of clues or motive. Then, one of them turned up headless in Lake

Michigan pumped full of date rape drugs.
Detective Cale Van Waring doesn't have proof, but he knows the girls are being abducted. Now, spring has returned, and so has Van Waring's invisible kidnapper.
Another girl is missing, but this time Van Waring finds a spotty trail. With his boss on his back and his girlfriend threatening to leave unless he commits, Van Waring struggles to put the pieces together before another girl ends up missing or dead.
