"The School Health guide, prepared by the Committee on School

Health, addresses two important aspects of a child's life: health and education. It has been written to acquaint health professionals with the educational and administrative guidelines by which school systems operate and to provide educators additional medical/nursing knowledge concerning the health of school children" -- Foreword.

Abstract: Guidelines, methods, and resources for evaluating school health promotion activities are provided in this manual from the Northwest Regional Educational Laboratory. The manual is organized to enable schools to focus on those evaluation questions most relevant to them. A school health evaluation checklist is provided to serve as a guide for the school health team conducting the evaluation activities. Guidelines are provided on 1) how to determine desirable school health goals, 2) how to establish feasible school health plans, 3) how to assess the implementation of school health activities, and 4) how to assess the effectiveness of school health activities. A list of references is included.

Health Work in the Schools Corwin Press

"The present volume deals with the problems involved in health supervision, health examination, and hygiene teaching, and it is hoped that it will contribute materially to the standardization of health supervision and to the broadening of its scope. Every one must realize that a great amount of what goes by the name of "medical inspection of schools" can be called health work only by courtesy. All along the line, among superintendents, teachers, school nurses, school boards, and even school doctors, education is needed which will lend a broader vision to the purpose and possibilities of genuine health supervision. Special emphasis has been given by the authors to the part played by the teacher in school health work. The book has been planned primarily for the use of the grade teacher, and with her needs especially in view, though it is hoped that it may also serve as a handbook for the guidance of superintendents, school nurses, and boards of education"--Introduction. (PsycINFO Database Record (c) 2005 APA, all rights reserved).
